Detailed Description and Justification

The goal of the Job Access and Reverse Commute (JARC) program is to improve access to transportation services to employment and employment related activities for welfare recipients and eligible low-income individuals throughout the country. Sixty percent of the total national JARC fund allocation is distributed among designated recipients in urbanized areas with a population of 200,000 or more, in the ratio that the number of eligible low-income individuals and welfare recipients in each such urbanized area bears to the number of eligible low-income individuals and welfare recipients in all such urbanized areas. MARTA, in cooperation with ARC, is the proposed designated recipient for the JARC program for the Atlanta urbanized area. Funds from the JARC Program are available for capital, planning, and operating expenses.
