Interstates and freeways currently accommodate a significant percentage of the Atlanta region's peak period travel. However, continued growth in population and employment throughout the region can strain these facilities, which is particularly evident at major system interchanges. A major area of focus of the PLAN 2040 Update is addressing these regional bottlenecks through targeted improvements in both efficiency and capacity. The constrained element of PLAN 2040 includes $2.2 billion of these types of projects.